For Leaders

Anyone who wants to be a leader must learn to be everybody's servant.

But I find that hard to accept.

I'd like to be famous and get VIP treatment in restaurants.

Hotels and airports.

I'd like to be a champion athlete, win trophies, sign autographs.

And hold world records.

At such times I don't want to be anybody's servant

Teach me why I should become everyone's servant

Teach me why the truly great leaders, those who accomplished

The greatest good for the largest number of people

Were men and women who know that to lead is to serve

Motivate me to being leading those I meet daily by discovering their needs

And striving to help them live up to their potential.
